

infinity, eternity

crest of light elevated over the lengths and shadows of this circling ocean, throbbing water where we soak in indolence, ignorance such saturation of desire, myopic inebriation this endless flotilla of exotic evaporation baptysmal vigour of penetrating mystery sharp wind purging the blood across your cheek from the eye, beneath the foot perfection extends from the silence into fluctuating vagaries of light it is now recurrent discovery of the first beam of light and its first vague shadow

it is here instantaneous evaporation and condensation of a single crystal of light infinite balance

